BRAND COPYWRITER

I look at a company. I look at its product, I look at its business values and business position, and I build a personality likable to its consumers. I find and invent ways to distil the essence of the brand in all communication media. I design creative methods to express brand qualities in the voice of the brand and in the language of our customers. I believe in principles, I believe in the pragmatic. I believe in building and communicating quality brands..
