SUMMARY

I am a motivated third-year university student with strong knowledge of advanced JavaScript concepts. I have intermediate-level experience in backend development using Node.js, Express.js, and MongoDB. I am currently learning PostgreSQL to strengthen my database management skills. I have basic knowledge of version control tools such as Git and GitHub. With a strong passion for backend development, I aim to gain real-world experience and build my professional career as a Backend Developer, creating efficient, scalable, and modern web applications.
